

BOSTON RED SOX (48-48, 3rd AL East) vs. TAMPA BAY RAYS

Fenway Park • Game 3 of the 4-game set • Red Sox go for a 12th straight win

4:10 p.m. ET: LHP Patrick Sandoval (BOS) vs. LHP Ian Seymour (TB) — Sandoval's 2nd start since returning from a long layoff

Next: Sun 7/19 (1:35) vs Rays, then Orioles (7/20–22) and Blue Jays (7/24–26) at Fenway

STATE OF THE SOX

- Boston is 48-48 (3rd, AL East, 8.0 GB) after sweeping Friday's day-night doubleheader from the first-place Rays, 10-0 and 5-3 — the Sox' 11th straight win and their first trip back to .500 since March 28.
- Per Opta/NESN, no 21st-century club had climbed back from 10-plus games under .500 to break even without a loss along the way until this Red Sox streak did it.
- 14-2 in the last 16 games; 17-5 in the last 22 — among the hottest stretches in the majors.
- Home/road splits remain lopsided even after the sweep: 19-27 at Fenway vs. 29-21 on the road, a 10-game reverse split.
- FanGraphs' playoff odds model has Boston at roughly 40%, up from just 9.4% on June 24.

ALL-STAR RECAP

- Four Red Sox represented Boston in the AL's All-Star win: LHP Aroldis Chapman, 1B Willson Contreras, OF Cedanne Rafaela, and LHP Ranger Suárez (Contreras & Rafaela were injury replacements for Guerrero Jr. and Judge).
- Chapman worked the 9th alongside Rays reliever Bryan Baker per a pre-arranged plan, striking out Home Run Derby champ Jordan Walker and getting Matt Olson to pop out — the first All-Star Game shutout since 2013 (no save awarded in exhibition play). He'd already passed Hoyt Wilhelm for the all-time relief-strikeout record on July 4 vs. the Angels.
- Suárez did not pitch — he landed on the 15-day IL (groin) just before the break; earliest return is Tuesday, 7/21.

FRIDAY'S DOUBLEHEADER SWEEP

- Boston opened the second half by sweeping the AL East-leading Rays in a day-night

RED SOX HEADLINESRed Sox complete sweep, reach .500 on 11th straight win

Boston finished off a historic doubleheader sweep of Tampa Bay Friday night, backing into .500 for the first time since March 28 behind Wilyer Abreu's two homers and Willson Contreras' return-from-suspension blast.

Stat trackers confirmed no team in the 21st century had erased a double-digit-games-under-.500 deficit without a single loss in between until this Red Sox win streak just did it.

doubleheader — full pitching breakdown, Page 2.

- Game 1 (10-0): Jake Bennett tossed six one-hit, shutout innings; Masataka Yoshida and Carlos Narváez each homered, and Boston out-hit Tampa Bay 15-3. Alex Gamboa worked the final three for his first career save.
- Game 2 (5-3): Wilyer Abreu homered twice and Willson Contreras went deep in his first at-bat back from a five-game suspension, erasing an early 2-0 deficit. Greg Weissert (2-2) picked up the win and Aroldis Chapman worked a perfect 9th for the save.
- Today: Patrick Sandoval, in just his second start since returning from a long injury layoff, opposes Tampa Bay LHP Ian Seymour — Starter Look, Page 2.

ELEVEN IN A ROW

- Friday's sweep made it 11 consecutive wins — Boston's longest streak since a September 2016 run — and pulled the Sox back to .500 for the first time since March 28. The comeback from 10-plus games under .500 without a loss along the way is, per Opta, unprecedented in the 21st century.

THE 5-RUN RECIPE

- Cook up five and dinner is served: Boston is 34-9 when scoring 5+ runs, but a grim 14-39 when held to four or fewer. Both doubleheader wins (10 and 5 runs) fit the pattern perfectly.

ROAD SWEET ROAD

- Even after going 2-0 at home Friday, the Sox are still a lopsided 19-27 at Fenway against 29-21 on the road — a 10-game reverse split. For a team that sells out the Fens, home cooking has been the problem, not the cure.

CUBAN MISSILE, STILL FIRING

- At 38 years young, Aroldis Chapman became baseball's all-time leader in relief strikeouts (passing Hoyt Wilhelm) on July 4 vs. the Angels, worked the All-Star Game's first shutout inning since 2013, and closed out Friday's Game 2 sweep-clincher for his latest save (season total reported anywhere from 18-20 depending on the source — treat as approximate given this season's recurring stat-tracking inconsistencies). The oldest flamethrower in the sport hasn't lost a tick.

WELCOME BACK, WILLSON

- Willson Contreras served the final game of a suspension (reduced from seven games to five on appeal, stemming from a June 30 benches-clearing incident vs. Washington) and made it count — a first-at-bat solo homer Friday, his 21st of the season, helped erase an early deficit in Game 2.

Sandoval, back from a lengthy injury layoff, will make his second start of the season against Tampa Bay after a promising Red Sox debut, though his rotation spot could get squeezed once Suárez and Early return.

TRADE DEADLINE WATCH

Deadline: Mon., Aug. 3, 6:00 p.m. ET

ESPN's Jeff Passan: Boston's approach remains "fluid" — hasn't ruled out buying, but Chapman, Sonny Gray, Contreras and Whitlock could move if the club fades.

7/14: acquired OF/DH Jahmai Jones from Detroit (PTBNL) — first move of the window.

ODDS & ENDS

- Cycle-logical: Andruw Monasterio hit for the cycle on 4/25 at Baltimore, the centerpiece of a 17-1 rout — Boston's biggest win of the year.
- Coin-flip October rehearsal: the Sox are 3-3 in extra innings, with two walk-off wins (both in the 10th) against three walk-off losses.
- Nine of Boston's wins have been shutouts; they've been blanked just four times.
- Marriage ball: rookie lefty Payton Tolle got married during the All-Star break, then still made time to catch the Home Run Derby and All-Star Game before jumping right back into the rotation.

TODAY'S STARTER LOOK: LHP Patrick Sandoval (BOS) vs. LHP Ian Seymour (TB) — 4:10 p.m. ET

Patrick Sandoval, LHP (BOS) — #43	2026	Ian Seymour, LHP (TB)	2026
Season	0-0, ~2.08 ERA	Season	6-2, 4.59 ERA, 75 SO
Debut (7/9 at CHW)	4.1 IP, 1 R, 5 H, 1 BB, 5 SO

- Activated off the 60-day IL on 7/6 following a long injury layoff; today is only his 2nd start of the season.
- Rotation spot could get squeezed once Suárez (targeting 7/21) and Early return from the IL.

- Rays rotation piece; part of a Tampa Bay staff that's dropped 4 of its last 5 to Boston in this series/season set.

Sandoval's ERA/line approximate pending official box-score confirmation postgame; Seymour's line via ESPN player gamelog.

FRIDAY DOUBLEHEADER RECAP: RED SOX SWEEP RAYS

Game 1	Line
Rays 0 — Red Sox 10	W: J. Bennett (5-3), L: G. Jax (5-7), S: A. Gamboa (1)
Game 2	Line
Rays 3 — Red Sox 5	W: G. Weissert (2-2), S: A. Chapman — Rivera (ND) opened, 2.1 IP, 3 ER

- Game 1: Bennett struck out three over six one-hit innings, walking none, to win his fourth straight start; Yoshida (4th HR) and Narváez (3rd HR) each homered, and Boston out-hit Tampa Bay 15-3. Boston has allowed just 14 runs during the 11-game streak, its fewest over any 10-game span in the live-ball era (since 1920).
- Game 2: Rookie Eduardo Rivera opened shakily (2.1 IP, 3 ER) before Abreu and Contreras hit back-to-back homers in the 1st to erase a 2-0 deficit; Abreu added a second homer in the 3rd. Weissert, Morán, Guerrero, Whitlock and Slaten combined for 6.2 scoreless relief innings before Chapman closed it out.

Active roster derived from Baseball-Reference's 40-man page (still showing a 6/29/26 last-updated timestamp — a known stale-cache issue this season) and reconciled against transactions confirmed via box scores and news reporting through the morning of 7/18. Key correction this edition: Patrick Sandoval was found to have already been activated off the 60-day IL on 7/6 (MLB debut 7/9 at Chicago) — he was mistakenly still shown on the IL in the previous edition and is corrected here. Alex Gamboa, who served as Boston's 27th man for the 7/17 doubleheader and earned his first career save in Game 1, reverts to Triple-A Worcester now that the DH is over. No further transactions were identified between the evening of 7/17 and this 7/18 edition. Reconfirm active designations on game day.

Source: Baseball-Reference 2026 Boston Red Sox Schedule & Results (baseball-reference.com/teams/BOS/2026-schedule-scores.shtml), cross-verified with box scores/recaps where the B-Ref page's cache lagged. "wo" = walk-off; number in parentheses = extra innings. Rk = AL East rank; GB = games behind division leader. Game 96's losing pitcher of record was not independently confirmed this run and is omitted rather than guessed.

Sources & methodology (produced morning of 7/18): Baseball-Reference's 2026 BOS schedule/scores page was fetched this run and remains on the same stale cache reported all week (meta-revised timestamp 6/9/26; displayed record 27-37 through roughly Game 64/June 8) — consistent with prior editions, this is a known caching issue with this source this season, so Games 65 onward continue to rely on box-score and news-copy corroboration rather than the raw page content. The 40-man roster page was also re-fetched and again showed a stale 6/29/26 timestamp. Game 95 (Fri 7/17 Game 1, 10-0) and Game 96 (Fri 7/17 Game 2, 5-3) were both verified as final via multiple independent sources (ESPN, CBS Sports Gametracker, AP recap carried by MLB.com, and the Boston Sports Journal recap), all agreeing on both final scores and Boston's resulting 48-48 record; Game 96's exact losing pitcher of record could not be independently confirmed this run and was omitted rather than guessed. Today's game (Sat 7/18, 4:10 p.m., Sandoval vs. Seymour) had not yet started as of this edition going to press (server-side timestamps from MLB.com's own gameday page placed the fetch at roughly 8:06 a.m. ET). A roster correction was identified and applied this run: Patrick Sandoval was actually activated off the 60-day IL on 7/6 (MLB debut 7/9 at Chicago) but was mistakenly still shown on the IL in the 7/17 edition; that error is fixed here and flagged. AL East standings for Tampa Bay and Boston are confirmed directly from Friday's final box scores; Baltimore and Toronto, and the entire AL Central/West/Wild Card tables beyond the confirmed top spots, are extrapolated from the last confirmed snapshot rather than freshly verified, because ESPN's standings page returned data from an earlier, clearly stale point in the season on this run (win totals far below the confirmed anchors) — all such figures are flagged approximate in their respective boxes and should be reconfirmed against a live standings source before wider distribution. Aroldis Chapman's save total was reported inconsistently across sources this run (17 confirmed pre-7/17, with post-DH figures ranging 18–20 depending on the outlet); the higher figure is not fully trusted and is presented as a range. Willson Contreras's suspension (5 games, reduced from 7 on appeal, for a June 30 benches-clearing incident vs. Washington) and his return-game homer (21st of the season) were corroborated by ESPN, MLB.com, CBS Sports and Boston Sports Journal. Standings, injury, and transaction notes otherwise from MLB.com, ESPN, NESN, Boston.com, CBS Sports, NBC Sports Boston, and Boston Sports Journal; Boston Globe and other paywalled outlets are excluded on principle, even when surfaced by search. This is an independent recreation in the style of the Red Sox' official pregame notes and is not an official MLB or Red Sox publication. Team logos used under fair use for editorial/informational purposes. Daily updates: next edition should append today's Game 97 as a completed row once final, confirm Game 96's losing pitcher, and refresh all four standings tables against a live source.
