BOSTON RED SOX (51-48, 3rd AL East) vs. BALTIMORE ORIOLES (49-52)

Fenway Park • Game 2 of a 3-game series • Boston goes for a 15th straight win, which would tie the franchise record set in June 1946

7:10 p.m. ET (5:10 p.m. MT): LHP Eduardo Rivera (BOS) vs. RHP Kyle Bradish (BAL) — Rivera gets the ball after Ranger Suárez was scratched from his planned activation start hours before first pitchStarting lineup not yet announced at publication time; Baseball-Reference's lineup page carried nothing past Monday's Game 99, and no beat reporter had posted a batting order.

Next: Orioles at Fenway through Wed 7/22 (Jake Bennett vs. Dean Kremer), then Blue Jays at Fenway (7/24–26)

STATE OF THE SOX

- Boston is 51-48 (3rd, AL East, 6.0 GB) after a comeback 6-5 win over Baltimore on Monday extended the winning streak to 14 games.
- At three games over .500, the Sox are as far above the break-even line as they've been all season — a new season high, per multiple outlets covering Monday's win.
- Boston has won 19 of its last 21 and holds the American League's third and final Wild Card spot outright, 1.0 game clear of Seattle.
- The climb continues: the Sox sat 15.5 games back on June 24, the low point of the season. Twenty-seven days later they are 6.0 back — 9.5 games of ground recovered.

MONDAY: DURBIN BEATS BALTIMORE FROM BEHIND

- Trailing 1-0 in the first, 4-3 in the sixth and 5-4 in the seventh, Boston tied it on Ceddanne Rafaela's two-out RBI single, then Caleb Durbin broke it open with a two-out solo homer over the Green Monster in the eighth — his 10th of the year — off Tyler Wells (2-2).
- Garrett Whitlock (5-1) worked a perfect eighth and Aroldis Chapman needed a leaping catch from Tsung-Che Cheng at short to close out his 22nd save.
- Baltimore committed four errors and allowed two unearned runs; Payton Tolle allowed four runs with nine strikeouts over 5.2 innings in a no-decision.
- Durbin is batting .351 (13-for-37) with two homers over his last 10 games, per CBS Sports/RotoWire.

AL CENTRAL STANDINGS

Team	W	L	GB
Chicago White Sox	52	46	—

- A win tonight ties the 1946 Red Sox — the Ted Williams/Bobby Doerr/Dom DiMaggio/Johnny Pesky club — for the longest winning streak in the 126-year history of the franchise. A win Wednesday would break it outright.
- Interim manager Chad Tracy said Monday night that Ranger Suárez would return from the 15-day IL to start tonight, but the club scratched him early Tuesday afternoon to give his surgically-untouched but balky groin "an extra day," per multiple reporters. No corresponding roster move was made; Suárez remains on the IL.
- Rookie lefty Eduardo Rivera gets the start instead — his third start and fourth appearance of the year. Boston has won both of his prior starts, and he carries a 2.89 ERA over 9.1 innings.
- Kyle Bradish (6-9, 3.61 ERA) starts for Baltimore; he's 1-6 with a 6.75 ERA in 10 career starts against Boston.

ALONE IN SECOND SINCE 1946

- Fourteen straight moved Boston past the 1948 club's 13-game run and into sole possession of the second-longest winning streak in franchise history. Only the 1946 team's 15-game streak, set that June, stands ahead of it.
- Starting pitchers own a 2.63 ERA during the 14-game run; relievers are even better at 1.15, per Field Level Media.

THE TWO-RUN TOURNIQUET

- Hold the other team to two runs or fewer and this season is essentially decided: Boston is still 34-1 in those games (Monday's five-run Baltimore output doesn't qualify). The lone blemish remains the May 12 loss to Philadelphia.
- Monday was the most runs the pitching staff has allowed in any game of the 14-game streak, but the staff still sports that 1.15 bullpen ERA and 2.63 rotation ERA across the run overall.

THE 5-RUN RECIPE

- Boston is 37-9 when it scores five or more and 14-39 when it doesn't — Monday's six runs kept the streak living on the right side of that split. Field Level Media has Boston averaging 5.9 runs a game over the 14-game run.

FENWAY, STILL A RIDDLE

- Monday's win was a home game, nudging the home ledger to 22-27 against a 29-21 road mark — still a seven-game reverse split. Eight of the next 11 are at Fenway, so the window to correct it remains open.

BALTIMORE, REVISITED

A team that looked like trade-deadline sellers a month ago is now three games over .500 and standing on the doorstep of franchise history.

TRADE DEADLINE WATCH
Deadline: Mon., Aug. 3, 4:00 p.m. MT (6:00 p.m. ET)
Craig Breslow, on not yet committing to buy: "More time means we can get more information."
Sam Kennedy and Breslow have both stressed a cautious, information-gathering posture even as the win streak has flipped Boston from apparent sellers toward the buyer's side of the market.
7/14: acquired OF/DH Jahmai Jones from Detroit (PTBNL) — still the only move of the window.

- Monday's win pushed the season series to 4-3 Boston with one game left in this set. Christian Encarnacion-Strand, recalled by Baltimore from Triple-A four days earlier, homered and drove in a run for the Orioles.
- The loss snapped the Orioles' season-best seven-game winning streak — making Monday's game a clash of the two hottest records in baseball entering the night.

ODDS & ENDS

- Blanked and blanking: Boston has thrown 10 shutouts and been shut out only four times.
- Coin-flip baseball: still 3-3 in extra innings and two walk-off wins against three walk-off losses, but the one-run record improved to 10-12 with Monday's 6-5 win — the fourth of the 14 streak wins decided by a single run.
- Cycle-logical: Monasterio's April 25 cycle at Baltimore remains the only one by a Red Sox hitter this season.
- Month of July: 14-1, outscoring opponents 84-39.

ROTATION REINFORCEMENTS

- Suárez (groin) took part in Monday's throwing and pitchers' fielding drills but was held back from his planned Tuesday start; once activated he rejoins a rotation that's been among the sport's best even though ace Garrett Crochet hasn't pitched since April 25.
- Jake Bennett starts Wednesday's series finale against Dean Kremer; the next open rotation turn is Friday's series opener against Toronto.
- Connelly Early (left elbow) is throwing again with no return date set. Roman Anthony (finger tendon) remains in Fort Myers not yet swinging, and Trevor Story (hip/hernia surgery) is hitting and increasing defensive work with no rehab assignment scheduled.

DEADLINE WATCH

- Craig Breslow's stance hasn't hardened into a plan: "More time means we can get more information," he told reporters over the weekend, per Over the Monster — a sign the front office isn't rushing a call despite the streak.
- The only move of the deadline window remains the 7/14 acquisition of OF/DH Jahmai Jones from Detroit (PTBNL).

ROTATION & BULLPEN NOTES

- Eduardo Rivera gets tonight's start in place of Ranger Suárez, who was scratched from a planned activation Tuesday afternoon to allow extra recovery time for his left groin strain. Rivera is 0-0 with a 2.89 ERA across three appearances (two starts); Boston has won both of his prior starts.
- Suárez (4-3, 3.15 ERA in 17 starts) took part in Monday's throwing and pitchers' fielding drills but remains on the 15-day IL with no corresponding move made. He's 0-2 with a 4.32 ERA in four career starts against Baltimore.
- Payton Tolle allowed four runs on nine strikeouts over 5.2 innings in Monday's no-decision; Garrett Whitlock (5-1) worked a perfect eighth and Aroldis Chapman logged his 22nd save.
- Jake Bennett starts Wednesday's series finale against Dean Kremer; the next open rotation turn after that is Friday's series opener against Toronto.
- Connelly Early (left elbow, 15-day IL) is throwing again; no return date set. Garrett Crochet (shoulder inflammation/lat, 60-day IL) still has not thrown a baseball since April 25 and projects to return no earlier than September.
- Tanner Houck, Kutter Crawford and Johan Oviedo remain on the 60-day IL. Zack Kelly and Joe La Sorsa are on the 7-day IL.
- Aroldis Chapman has 22 saves and a 2.05 ERA at age 38, with 38 strikeouts in 30.2 innings (through 7/19; Monday's scoreless save not yet folded into the rate line — see source note). He set the all-time reliever strikeout record on July 4 against the Angels.
- Patrick Sandoval carries a 4.82 ERA in 9.1 innings across two starts since returning from a long layoff; his rotation spot is squeezed further now that Suárez is nearly back.

STARTER LOOK: Eduardo Rivera (BOS) vs. Kyle Bradish (BAL)

	W-L	ERA	IP	SO	WHIP
Eduardo Rivera (LHP)	0-0	2.89	9.1	9	0.964
Kyle Bradish (RHP)	6-9	3.61	~89.0	~94	~1.45

Rivera's line from the Baseball-Reference 2026 Red Sox pitching table. Bradish's W-L/ERA are sourced to Field Level Media's Jul 21 game preview (6-9, 3.61); his IP/SO/WHIP are approximate due to conflicting cached snapshots found this run (ranging 3.64–4.30 ERA depending on vintage) and should be treated as directional, not exact. Bradish is 1-6 with a 6.75 ERA in 10 career starts against Boston.

Cumulative pitching lines are from the Baseball-Reference 2026 Red Sox standard pitching table through games of 7/19/2026, carried forward unchanged except where a specific box-score fact from Monday's game was confirmed by name (Whitlock's win and Chapman's save total, both updated above; Tolle's Monday line described narratively rather than folded into his season rate stats, since hits/walks/earned-vs-unearned detail for that outing were not available via a verified box score this run). This avoids estimating updated ERA/WHIP figures that cannot be confirmed. Danny Coulombe, Tommy Kahnle and Jack Anderson appear in the season pitching log but are no longer on the 40-man roster and are omitted here.

RED SOX NOTES

LINEUP NOTES

- Caleb Durbin's two-out solo homer over the Green Monster in the eighth inning Monday broke a 5-5 tie and delivered the 14th straight win — his 10th home run of the year. He's batting .351 (13-for-37) over his last 10 games, per CBS Sports/RotoWire, and his season line below has been updated for the home run and RBI.
- Ceddanne Rafaela tied Monday's game with a two-out RBI single in the seventh — his 4.2 team-leading WAR pairs a .761 OPS with 17 defensive runs saved in center field (through 7/19).
- Willson Contreras (AS) remains the offense's anchor: a team-best .932 OPS, 22 homers, 64 RBI and a 162 OPS+ through Sunday's game.
- Jarren Duran's .190 average and 116 strikeouts are the lineup's most conspicuous problem, though 13 homers and 14 steals keep him productive at the margins.
- Boston has scored five or more in 46 of 99 games and is 37-9 in those. The lineup, not the staff, is what Craig Breslow has repeatedly named as the likeliest deadline addition.

Kristian Campbell (IF) MINORS (40-MAN)

No 2026 major-league appearances

Batting lines from the Baseball-Reference 2026 Red Sox standard batting table, through games of 7/19/2026, except Caleb Durbin's HR/RBI/G total, which were incremented for his confirmed 10th home run Monday (CBS Sports/RotoWire, MLB.com); his rate stats (AVG/OBP/SLG) were left as of 7/19 rather than estimated, since exact updated at-bat totals were not available via a verified box score this run. The same caution applies to Rafaela's RBI, which is described narratively above rather than incremented. Listed positions are assigned by most games played at each spot in the "Full Season Roster & Appearances" table rather than by the roster page's generic position column — which is why Anthony Seigler appears as a second baseman and Andruw Monasterio as a shortstop.

Full season log and standings from Baseball-Reference (baseball-reference.com/teams/BOS/2026-schedule-scores.shtml and /leagues/AL/2026-standings.shtml) plus WebSearch/box-score corroboration, since a plain fetch of Baseball-Reference again returned a cached snapshot with a "revised" date of 09-Jun-2026 (six weeks stale). "wo" = walk-off; a number in parentheses after the score = innings played, where longer than nine. Wins are shaded green, losses red. Times converted from Baseball-Reference's Eastern listings to Mountain Time (ET minus 2 hours).

SOURCES & METHODOLOGY

- Schedule / results / standings: a direct fetch of Baseball-Reference's 2026 Red Sox schedule page returned a cached snapshot (meta "revised" date of 09-Jun-2026), so Monday's Game 99 (Red Sox 6, Orioles 5) and the resulting record, streak, and standings were rebuilt from WebSearch results and corroborated across the ESPN, Boston.com (AP), Field Level Media/Yardbarker, MLB.com and SI onsi recaps of that game, all of which agree on the final score, decisions and streak length.
- AL East standings: updated for Monday's games league-wide (Tampa Bay 7-1 over Toronto, New York's win, Boston over Baltimore) and cross-checked for internal consistency with Boston's own game log.
- AL Central / AL West standings: Cleveland's 13-4 win over Minnesota on Monday was independently confirmed and folded in; the remaining AL Central and all of AL West are carried forward from the 7/19 baseline and flagged approximate, since those clubs' Monday results were not independently confirmed this run (a live ESPN standings fetch returned an internally inconsistent, clearly stale table — e.g., it showed Boston at 31-44 with an active losing streak — and was discarded per the rule to trust whichever source is internally consistent with the rebuilt day-by-day log).
- Roster: Baseball-Reference 2026 40-man roster page, cross-checked against Tuesday's reporting on the Suárez/Rivera rotation swap. Positions were assigned by most games played at each spot in the "Full Season Roster & Appearances" table rather than the generic position column — Anthony Seigler is listed as a second baseman and Andruw Monasterio as a shortstop on that basis, unchanged from prior editions.
- Batting / pitching lines: Baseball-Reference 2026 Red Sox team statistics page, standard batting and standard pitching tables, through games of 7/19, carried forward unchanged except where a specific, independently confirmed box-score fact justified an update (Whitlock's win total, Chapman's save total, Durbin's home run/RBI/game count). Rate stats (ERA, WHIP, AVG/OBP/SLG) for players who appeared Monday were deliberately left as of 7/19 rather than estimated, since exact updated plate-appearance and baserunner detail could not be verified via a rendered box score this run — flagged in the Pitchers/Hitters source notes.
- Kyle Bradish's pitching line is flagged approximate: WebSearch returned at least three differing ERA/WHIP snapshots for him this run (3.61, 3.64 and 4.30 depending on apparent vintage); the most recent-looking figure (6-9, 3.61 ERA, per Field Level Media's July 21 preview) was used for W-L/ERA, with IP/SO/WHIP presented as approximate.
- Today's lineup: Baseball-Reference's 2026 lineups page carried nothing past Monday's Game 99 at publication time, and no beat report of a posted batting order was found, so the lineup is reported as not yet announced rather than guessed or carried over from Monday.
- News: MLB.com (direct article fetch), Boston.com, Yardbarker/Field Level Media, SI/Inside the Red Sox, Over the Monster and CBS Sports (RotoWire), each date-verified to fall within three days of 7/21/2026. The Boston Globe and other paywalled outlets are excluded by standing rule; a Bostonglobe.com item covering this same news (the Suárez/Rivera swap) was deliberately skipped in favor of the MLB.com version. The MLB.com Red Sox RSS feed was fetched again this run and its build date is still 7/8/2026 — still stale, so none of its items were used; a direct MLB.com news-article URL was used instead for that story. Two candidate items (an SI "trade deadline comments" piece and an NESN Roman Anthony injury story) were checked and discarded after their publish dates resolved to August 2025 and May 2026, respectively — outside the recency window.
- Historical claims: the 14-game streak standing alone in second place in franchise history (behind the 1946 team's 15), and tonight's game as the chance to tie that record, were confirmed across multiple independent non-paywalled reports (Boston.com/AP, Field Level Media, SI onsi, MLB.com).
- Retired this run: the "1948 and Counting" note-block concept from prior editions was retired since the streak has now passed 13 and stands alone in second place; replaced with "Alone in Second Since 1946." The specific Baltimore catching-injury detail (Basallo/Rutschman) from the prior edition was dropped as stale and replaced with the fresher, confirmed Encarnacion-Strand recall/home run detail. No player on the 40-man roster has a July 21 birthday, so no birthday nugget appears today.
- This is an automated, unattended run. All data reflects the state of the cited sources on the afternoon of Tuesday, July 21, 2026, before that evening's Red Sox-Orioles game.
